EMBLEM

The 307 Security Forces Squadron emblem consists of three elements. Each element highlights the unique heritage of the squadron. The emblem contains the Fleur De Lis; backed with crossed scimitars, and surrounded by the olive branch of justice. The emblem is surrounded by two ribbons. Both are Air Force Yellow surrounded by Air Force Blue. The top of the emblem heralds the motto, "Honor, Integrity, Service". At the bottom is printed, "307 Security Forces Sq"

SIGNIFICANCE: The emblem is encompassed by a border of yellow with a blue background. These colors allude to the sky, the primary theater of Air Force operations. The 307 Security Forces motto is, "Honor, Integrity, Service". This embodies the values that law enforcement officers must hold. The olive branch is a symbol of peace, which is the unit's responsibility to maintain. The scimitar originated in Southeast Asia. There are two, representing the 307's multiple deployments to the area. The handles are red to honor those Security Forces members that have paid the ultimate price to uphold the peace. Finally, the Fleur De Lis represents the 307 Security

Forces Squadron's home in Louisiana
