

908 AEROMEDICAL EVACUATION SQUADRON

MISSION

The 908 Aeromedical Evacuation Squadron mission and vision is to, “deliver dynamic aeromedical evacuation capabilities worldwide by empowering combat ready warriors who are committed to mission excellence.” In order to accomplish its goals and priorities the squadron takes its 83 total members, five of which are full-timers and 78 being traditional reservists and divides them into six different sections or flights including the operations flight, operations support flight, training flight, clinical management flight, standards and evaluation section and like all other units, a Commander’s Support Staff section.

The operations flight schedules, organizes, and reviews Aeromedical Evacuation Missions. They also ensure that all AE missions, operational or training, are launched, recovered, tracked, and archived successfully.

The operations support flight monitors the deployment readiness of the squadron. We want to make sure all members are deployable within 72 hours, to fulfil the AE requirements out in the system.

The training flight monitors the flight and ground training requirements of the unit. Making sure all members have proper opportunities to complete required training in a timely manner and those members that do not complete flight/ground training in time are trained back to mission ready status as quickly as possible.

The clinical management flight monitors the clinical training requirements of the unit; ensures each nurse and medical technician maintain their clinical competencies/certifications required for AE.

The standards and evaluation section monitors the standards and evaluations of the unit, verifying that the unit does not deviate from required regulations and that all members complete required testing on time.

EMBLEM

A gules cross outlined in argent is centered on a sable disc highlighted with argent pinpoints. An ultramarine azure demisphere highlighted with argent longitude and latitude lines issues from the base. An argent and silver gray deltoid followed by an or contrail emerges from beneath the demisphere and soars from sinister to dexter. The disc is bordered with or. An ultramarine scroll is attached beneath the disc. The scroll, winch is blank, is also bordered with or. SIGNIFICANCE: ultramarine blue and air force yellow are used in the design. Blue represents the sky, the primary theater of air force operations. Yellow signifies the sun and the excellence required of air force personnel. White of the soaring deltoid, cross trim and lines of longitude and latitude signify the qualities of perfection, purity of purpose and truth and wisdom. Silver gray of the del told reflects maturity and humility while black of the sky allude to determination. The scarlet red cross symbolizes the blood of life and the lifesaving mission of the unit in peace and war. (Approved, 22 Aug 1996)
