NICKNAME

OPERATIONS

Members of the 2nd Security Forces Squadron at Barksdale AFB, LA, moved into their new headquarters complex. The 40,000-square-foot building is much larger than the 1930s-era hangar that the squadron formerly called home, but was not large enough to accommodate all of its members. "The new facility consolidates security forces investigations, mobility, confinement, operations, and administrative functions under one roof for the first time at Barksdale," said Christopher Bowman, 2nd Security Forces Squadron chief of plans and programs. Construction of the new building, which opened on 22 Sep 2011, began in Feb 2010. The facility is energy efficient and has features like a new alarm system, electronic key access, and a radio system with an 80-foot tower.
