OPERATIONS

In February 1963, the 837th Air Division was deactivated and redesignated the USAF Tactical Air Reconnaissance Center (TARC). A number of units at Shaw were reorganized for better functional performance, with the 363d Tactical Reconnaissance Wing becoming the parent organization at the base. Support functions became a responsibility of the Wing. The Tactical Air Reconnaissance Center, with its 4411th Combat Crew Training Group and newly activated 4416th

Test Squadron, became a tenant unit at Shaw.
