OPERATIONS

The Air Force Audit Agency mission is to provide all levels of Air Force management with independent, objective, and quality audit services that include: Reviewing and promoting economy, effectiveness, and efficiency of operations; Evaluating programs and activities and assisting management in achieving intended results; Assessing and improving Air Force fiduciary stewardship and the accuracy of financial reporting. Air Force Audit Agency has eighty-five offices on Air Force installations in thirty-four states and eight foreign countries.

Internal auditing of USAF policies, procedures, and controls helps management use resources more efficiently by identifying problems at all management levels, locating causes, and recommending solutions.

Audits are designed to meet the needs of each management level. Centrally directed audits are performed concurrently at various locations to evaluate significant USAF or major command programs and activities. USAF Headquarters centrally directed audits, which usually address standard Air Force-wide systems, are applied at a sampling of about twenty bases. Audit managers summarize the results and recommend improvements to top Air Force managers. Major command CDAs focus on the unique aspects of each major command. Typically, the audit is applied at about half the command's bases, and the results are reported to the command headquarters. The third major type of audit—the local audit—is performed by area audit offices under the guidance of field audit headquarters. Results are reported to the local commander and to the appropriate major command.
