EMBLEM SIGNIFICANCE

Ultramarine blue and Air Force yellow are the Air Force colors. Blue alludes to the sky, the primary theater of Air Force operations. Yellow refers to the sun and the excellence required of Air Force personnel. The emblem has historical significance tracing to the Enterprise Sourcing Group and the Contract Management Division. The quill and scroll represent contractual agreements, the core mechanism by which the Air Force obtains goods and services. The colors of the quill and scroll have significance: the white in the scroll represents purity/integrity, symbolic of credible/transparent execution, and the gold in the quill represents ingenuity in executing Air Force strategic sourcing and other acquisition methods. The gray shaded industrial background represents the partnership with the United States industrial base.

OPERATIONS

Specialized Contracting Squadron Activated at Ramstein US Air Forces in Europe-Air Forces Africa officials activated the 764th Specialized Contracting Squadron at Ramstein AB, Germany, according to a base release. "Today, the 764th is the first specialized contracting squadron to officially stand up," said Col. The squadron's mission is "to provide acquisition support to all of USAFE-AFAFRICA for purchases worth more than $2 million or any amount that supports multiple locations," states the Oct. 2 release. The squadron took over the functions previously executed by the 700th Contracting Squadron's specialized contracting flight. Under an Air Force-wide realignment, specialized contracting flights are transitioning to squadrons and will fall under AFICA, states the release. The agency is headquartered at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio. 2013
