On Jan. 5, 1979, the National Guard Bureau announced federal recognition of the 154th Security Police Flight. Prior to this date the Security Police were assigned to the 154th Combat Support Squadron.

The 154 Security Police Squadron is located at Hickam AFB, HI. The 154 SPS trains on Air Base Defense and System Security to provide a high standard of readiness to protect USAF resources and air bases. During peace and in State emergencies, the squadron falls under the jurisdiction of the Governor of Hawaii through the State Adjutant General. For National emergencies, the squadron operates under Pacific Air Forces. The squadron's strength totals 41 guardsmen of which 2 are full-time.

The unit participates in Joint Chiefs of Staff exercises such as Balakatan in Philippines and Silver Flag in Nevada. The 154 SPS has helped PACAF units by integrating so their personnel can obtain the training they required. The unit participates in 154th Wing exercises at Barking Sands in Kauai, the last being in 1989.

The squadron provided personnel for relief efforts to the island of Kauai after Hurricane Iwa in 1982 and Hurricane Iniki in 1992. Also, the 154 SPS provided personnel for additional assisting in security for the President of the United States, Governor of Hawaii, and other dignitaries visiting the island of Oahu.

154th SPF members initiated a Child Identification Program for the Hawaii Air National Guard by fingerprinting children. The program was initiated during the 154 Composite Group Family Day activity in April 1986.

Squadron deployed to Silver Flag Alpha for Desert Warfare Training, 1996

154th Security Forces Squadron teams deployed to Iraq, marking the seventh deployment for the Security Forces since 9-11.
